Intertex Data AB was founded in 1982 in Stockholm, Sweden, by current owner and CEO Karl Erik Ståhl

. Since then Intertex has been working with telecommunication and security products in close cooperation with large carriers and ISP's. During the 1990's Intertex was one of Europe's most successful players in the dial-up modem market, mainly OEMing their products to European carriers and major ISPs.

Intertex analogue modems in a rack at a Swedish service provider in the early 1990s.

In 1998, when the technological evolution of dial-up modems ended, Intertex started developing feature rich ADSL modems called Intertex IX66.
